

GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE

Young gender diverse people are most at risk for pre-existing and new forms of gender-based violence. For females, cyber violence, sexual abuse, racism, domestic violence, and intimate partner violence severity have all increased since the onset of COVID-19.

- Keep young people informed of the risks associated with isolation, such as online threats, trauma-bonding, and online sexual exploitation.
- Develop a safety plan should there be a need to flee a violent situation.
- Create and share a safe word or signal with the intent that typing or saying this word will imply a need for immediate help.
- Communicate on a daily basis with the intent that if communication does not occur one day, trusted people will know to further investigate safety.
- Make note of safe places to escape, such as unlocking a window in the basement.
- Memorize the name, number, or location of an involved case worker and/or local crisis shelter should emergency assistance be required.

last modified: 2023-07-28

Child Trauma
Research Centre
UNIVERSITY OF REGINA

