

BREATHING

to reduce negative emotions

Breathing...

- Reduces stress and tension! It can also help ease anxious feelings!
- Helps with self-regulation by reconnecting you with your body
- Improves cardiovascular health, blood pressure, and lung capacity
  - Alleviates post-traumatic stress and even depression!

Box Breathing

How to:

- 1. Imagine a box
- 2. As you imagine travelling up the left side, inhale through your nose for 4 counts
- As you imagine travelling across the top, hold your breath for 4 counts
- 4. Exhale 4 counts as you imagine travelling down the right side
- 5. Hold for 4 counts as you imagine travelling across the bottom
- 6. Repeat as necessary

Slow Breathing

How to:

- 1. Inhale through your nose for 2 counts
- 2. Pause for a moment
- 3. Exhale through your mouth for 4 counts
- 4. Pause for a moment
- 5. Repeat as necessary

Diaphragmic Breathing

How to:

- 1. Lay on your back with your knees bent and feet flat on the floor or sit up straight in a cross-legged position
- 2. Close your eyes
- 3. Place one hand on your chest and the other on your stomach
- 4. Inhale through your nose for about 2 counts paying attention to how your body fills with air
- 5. Exhale through pursed lips while gently pressing on your stomach
- 6. Repeat as necessary

Humming Bee Breathing (Bhramari Pranayama)

How to:

- 1. Sit up straight
- 2. Close your eyes
- 3. Place your fingers over your ears, pressing gently on the tragus, to quiet external sounds
- 4. Take a deep breath in through both nostrils
- 5. When exhaling, keep your mouth closed and let out a nasally humming sound which mimics the sound of a humming bee, and it should mildly vibrate the inner walls of the nostrils.
- 6. Repeat as necessary

